

*January is a great time to revisit your goals and to reorganize your homeschool year.
Here are a few questions to help you dive deeper into what is working and not working so far!*

How is our overall schedule working for my family?

Do we need more structure, or less?

Do our days have a balance of in-breath and out-breaths? Active times and more quiet times?

How is the balance between stay-at-home and out of the house activities?

Is there anything we need to say NO to?

Are we on track with our learning goals?

Do I feel aligned with the vision and values I've set forth for our homeschooling year?
